ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

This international conference will cover the basic principles and the latest advancements in wound healing, burn care, and infection control.

Presentations will be made by:

- Clinicians
- Academicians
- Industrial representatives
- Paramedical Scientists

There will be oral presentations, panel discussions, poster sessions, and many opportunities for discussion between speaker and audience.

It is anticipated that many pharmaceutical companies, medical device firms, and others will participate by having presentations, posters, exhibits, and displays. There will be time at the continental breakfasts and coffee breaks to visit exhibits, scientific posters and displays.

The program begins at 7:30 am and end at 12:00 pm each day. This leaves afternoons free for various sports, sightseeing, and other recreational activities. On Monday evening, February 6th, there will be a welcoming cocktail reception for attendees that will provide an opportunity to get acquainted with others at the symposium. On Thursday evening, February 9th, there will be a farewell banquet.

Conference registration can be made online at our website: www.jabmauisymposium.com or mailed using the attached panel on this brochure.

NEW VENUE!

We are pleased to announce a new venue for the 33rd annual John A. Boswick, M.D. Burn and Wound Care Symposium. The 2012 conference will held at the Marriott Wailea Beach Resort and Spa. Newly updated and cradled against an oceanfront hillside, this expansive, low-rise Maui resort offers a fitness center, full-service business center, recreational activities such as kayaking, snorkeling, scuba diving, parasailing and surfing. two sandy beaches, whirlpool, outdoor pools, including a serenity pool, floating cabanas, and kids' activity pool with water slides, and the Mandarin Spa where you can be transformed with unique traditional treatments, couples retreat, and salon offering hair, make-up and nail services, three championship golf courses and tennis courts nearby, as well as shopping at the Shops at Wailea within walking distance. The hotel has two restaurants and lounges with stunning views of the ocean; casual poolside dining is also available, and a full service Starbucks.

Special convention room rates are available for reservations made before January 23, 2012. To obtain the special rate please identify yourself as an attendee of this meeting. Early reservations are recommended. Reservation requests after January 23rd, 2012 will be on a space available basis. A deposit will be required to guarantee the reservation. Reservations can be made online at our website www.jabmauisymposium.com or call the hotel directly toll free at 808-879-1922.
